the trading & handling
company for commercial and industry

Prolog

Continuous technological development and adaptation of products to be changing markets are the basis of the success of German companies abroad.

The predominantly medium-sized German economy demonstrate the possibility regarding regional localization of their demand creativity - and, historically they have to developed markets especially with the European partners, and as well with the Associates States which are remain very important.

But only the brave and often risky steps into new markets ensured sustainable success and serves the mutual interests. Open markets are not a one-way street, but the guarantee for growth and employment for all. These opportunities have to be use in the future.

In this spirit we are driven by our flexibility and multi-cultural adaptation, to pursue our business with great passion.

The trust placed in us, we respond with performance and customer satisfaction.
